CULTURAL DIRECTIONS

The gladiolus is easy to grow. It will do well in almost any good garden soil, but a rich, sandy loam is best.

Do not plant in the shade of trees or buildings. Especially stay away from trees and shrubs, whose tiny roots suck all the moisture out of the ground in a wide circle.

May be planted from middle of April to latter part of May. Plant in rows, in four or five inch deep trenches, five to six inches between each bulb in the row and at least twenty inches between the rows.

Keep the top soil continually loose and free from weeds. Never allow a hard crust to form after rain or watering. In case of a long severe drought, soak the soil thoroughly once a week at least. Constant cultivation will also help wonderfully.

In cutting the flower spike allow at least four leaves to remain on the stalk. It weakens the bulb to cut stem too low.

Do not plant gladioli in the same patch many years in succession. New ground each year is best. Do not use horse manure as fertilizer. Ground fertilized with old cow manure the previous year is best.

Mark each variety with its proper name, written on a tag, tied to a stake. At blooming time it will add to your pleasure to know the right name of each variety.

Dig bulbs in the late fall and, immediately after digging, cut the stem close to the bulb. Use a sharp knife or a small pruning shear, so you do not tear the husk.

Dry them in open air for a week or two, but protect them from frost at nights. Remove the roots and dirt and the old, decayed bulb. Save the bulblets and plant them again in the spring. Sow them thickly, like peas, in shallow trenches, about two inches deep. They will bloom the second year.

When properly dried and cured store your bulbs away for the winter in a dry, frostproof place in the cellar.

On account of its extraordinary keeping qualities, the gladiolus surpasses all other flowers for cutting purposes. A bouquet can be kept fresh in a vase for a week or more. Not only that, but the blooms will prove even larger, brighter and more beautiful and perfect in every way when cut than when out in the sunny garden.

For the sick-room and hospital and for decorating churches and halls the gladiolus is the ideal flower, not only because of its beauty and stateliness and almost unlimited color-range, but also because of its lack of fragrance.

MIXED GLADIOLUS

We do not advise buying mixed stock, however it is impossible to prevent leaving a few in the field when digging, so we put these in bins as mixed; then if customers wish a really good mixture we use about 1-4 of these and pick the rest out of our regular named varieties, insuring a wide range of colors in each dozen. These we sell as follows: (L. 75c per doz., $4.50 per 100) (M. 50c per doz., $3.00 per 100.) (S. 25c per doz., $1.50 per 100.)

Greetings, King: People drew by and then came back to get out and look at our glads. Don't know whether it's because of your stuff or my hoeing, it sure 'ain't' the ground, for I put them out in the mud last May. Say young feller, I will want some more for next year.

Dear Sir: I sent you an order for glad bulbs in the spring too late to be filled. Could you send me a list this fall and I will buy now? I had good luck with your bulbs a year ago, and wish to buy from you now.

Dear Sir: The cormels of the gladiolus "The Orchid," received. I thank you for sending the extra count. I am also grateful to you for sending the cormels of A. E. Kunderd. Again thanking you for your generous treatment, I am, Very truly yours,

N. VAN DECAR, N. Y.

All glad lovers should join the AMERICAN GLADIOLUS SOCIETY. The cost is only $2.00 per year, which includes The Official Bulletin, a monthly magazine devoted exclusively to the gladiolus. Mail subscriptions to Mr. ROSCOE HUFF, Goshen, Ind., or include $2.00 with your order and I will see that you are enrolled as a member.

For general flower growing no magazine I have so far seen compares with THE FLOWER GROWER in dealing with all types of outdoor and indoor flowers. It is published by Madison Cooper at Calcium, N. Y. The price is $2.00 per year, and I would be pleased to send in your subscription.

If you prefer either or both of the above instead of extras as listed in front of catalog, well and good. You may select either one instead of extras on a $25.00 order or both on a $40.00 order.
